LEADERSHIP MESSAGE

Dear Community Members,

At Charlotte Hungerford Hospital we spend each day striving to achieve top status on all national, state and regional healthcare performance surveys with a passion to be at the head of the pack. This focus has yielded significant improvements in the quality and safety of our care as evidenced by the "Report Cards" generated by several authorized and qualified organizations, including federal and state government agencies.

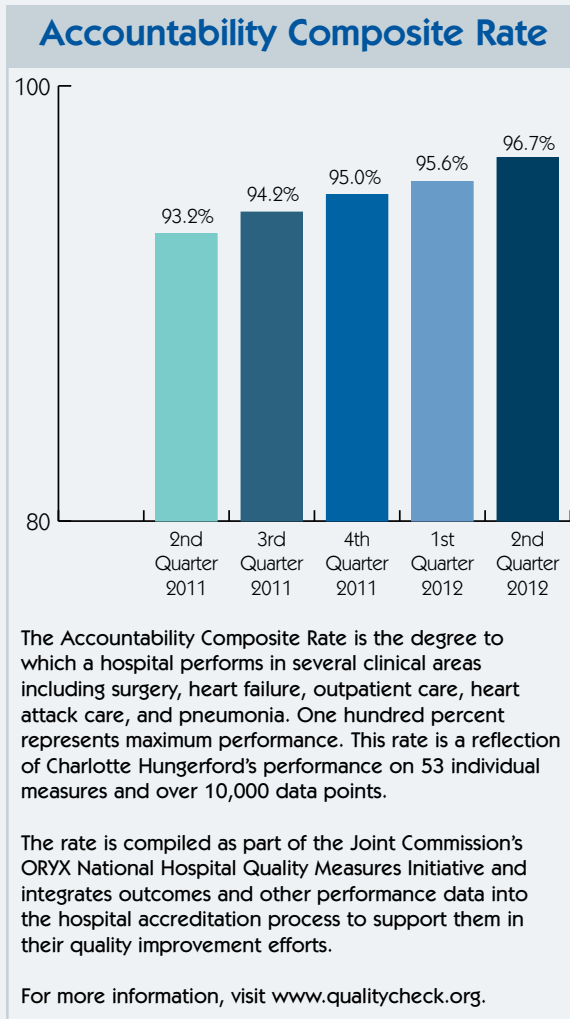

In "Patient Care," there are a number of meaningful measures routinely collected and analyzed. Some represent to us points of pride, while others represent challenges for improvement. Because you have entrusted your healthcare to us, it is our tendency to NEVER feel that the work is "good enough." Equally important to us is our deep commitment to holding ourselves totally accountable for your safety and the quality of our work. As you might expect, we also are committed to sharing our results with you, honestly and often.

Consistent with this philosophy, all of us at Charlotte Hungerford Hospital want every person who provides, regulates or utilizes our services to feel strongly that our care is safe, effective, patient-centered, timely, efficient and equitable. To achieve care that can be characterized as such requires all hospital and medical staff members to work together and requires hospital leadership to constantly reinforce and support this collaboration. Consequently, more and better information about the safety and quality of care across each of these six characteristics will continue to be developed and shared.

Fortunately, over the last few decades important work has been done to develop measures and increase the capacity to collect and analyze quality and safety data. Still, it can be a daunting task to sift through so many clinical performance measures, some of which may not mean much to the layman.

Nonetheless, it is widely agreed that the Joint Commission is one of the hospital industry's key patient care auditors. And, of the many measures they evaluate, the Patient Safety Accountability Composite Rate is the key statistic that gives readers of their reports a useful measure of the hospital's overall performance over time.

Continuing to improve our performance on this composite score is an important indicator of our quality and safety, and requires coordinated work from our employees and physicians. We are incredibly proud of them and the work in which they are engaged. Below is a description of some of their best work:

- Maintaining quality hospitalist care

CHH expanded its Hospital Medicine Department, increasing the number of regular, full-time hospital-based doctors, APRNs and physician assistants who treat patients admitted to the hospital. Hospitalists, who specialize in acute hospital care, manage your care and treatment with your primary care doctor.

- Delivering rapid emergency care

An innovative, new model of care was introduced in the CHH Emergency Department, bringing physicians and physician assistants into the triage function immediately, resulting in more rapid assistance and a huge decrease in time from patient arrival to seeing a physician. In the first three months of its implementation, we have seen an 11 percent decrease on average in our door-to-doctor time as compared to our FY 2012 average. As our staff becomes more comfortable with this new treatment model, our door-to-doctor time will continue to decrease.

- Sustaining Rapid Response Teams

A Rapid Response Team is a group of medical professionals from different specialties and areas of the hospital that come together when called to bring their critical care expertise to a patient's bedside during an emergency with a goal of avoiding a "crisis" situation. Our rapid response team has responded to 145 calls in the last year. This demonstrates our staff recognizing and responding to signs of instability sooner, allowing quick intervention to treat patients, and to stabilize and transfer some patients to a higher level of care if needed.

- Introducing heart saving technology

Our Emergency Department has enhanced its cardiac care program by implementing a state-of-the-art hypothermia system. A new "ThermoSuit[®]," which places the patient in an induced hypothermic state after experiencing a heart attack, uses a water-circulating system that lowers a patient's inner core temperature. Thanks to this revolutionary system, we can cool the body and preserve brain function while the heart is receiving lifesaving treatments. After cooling the patient and providing the immediate emergency treatments, we transfer the patient to one of our tertiary center partners for further care.

- Recruiting physician specialists

Special physician recruitment initiatives have resulted in the introduction of new physicians in many critical specialty areas including pulmonary, primary care and joint replacement.

But our improvements continue... We're also investing in new projects and partnerships that will greatly enhance the size and scope of the medical services we offer.

Here's what is coming next:

- Torrington area emergency services

One of the principal factors of Charlotte Hungerford's success over the years has been its commitment to continuously update and improve facilities, technology and equipment. With the ever-evolving healthcare environment and the shift from inpatient to outpatient care, our Emergency Department needs to grow physically, technologically and in the level of personalized care and comfort it provides to patients. To achieve this, plans are under way for a proposed multi-year, renovation and modernization of the hospital's Emergency Department. Plans include an enhanced entrance for walk-in patients and ambulances, a friendly, welcoming waiting area and 27 private treatment rooms, including a GYN room, an orthopedic room, two triage rooms, two resuscitation rooms, several rooms dedicated to behavior health treatment, and four "flex" rooms to help handle high volume peaks.

- Northwest Connecticut cancer care services

Charlotte Hungerford Hospital, Yale-New Haven Hospital, and Yale Cancer Center are exploring ways to enhance outpatient cancer services in Litchfield County that would help increase access to care and ensure the efficient, effective and high-quality delivery of a wide-variety of cancer services in a single facility. The involved parties anticipate this new collaboration will greatly enhance the existing services patients have come to expect in the local delivery of cancer care. We are simultaneously working to integrate and streamline the center's services and procedures, a process that is anticipated to evolve over the next few months and years.

Shared goals for the new partnership to enhance patient care include building upon the strength of our current physicians and staff, enhancing research and complementary cancer therapies, supporting the expansion of the early detection and breast navigation services and offering greater access to cutting-edge treatment options, technology and drug therapies.

- Greater Winsted emergency and medical services

After years of deliberation, the CHH Board of Governors reached the conclusion that the future needs of patients, staff, area physicians and the public will best be met by building a new, easily accessible, and patient-friendly facility on Route 44 on the town line between Winsted and Barkhamsted. This soon-to-be-constructed 19,000-square-foot medical building will permit CHH to offer additional, technologically advanced services to better meet the needs of those it serves, just one mile from its current location on Spencer Street in Winsted. Plans call for the new space to be built within the next two years and accommodate the relocation of existing services including the emergency department, cardiac and pulmonary rehabilitation programs, blood drawing, laboratory, X-ray, digital mammography services, a sleep center, physician offices and more. A CT scanner is also being proposed for the location.

We hope you are as excited about these steps being taken as we are. Thank you for allowing us to serve you and to share with you our progress and plans for the future.

Respectfully,

Daniel J. McIntyre
